COLORADO OIL MAN QUIZZED

Intimates Sinclair Figured in Plot With Standard.

TEAPOT DOME LEASE INVOLVED

Witness Gives This Alleged Conspiracy as the Reason For Sinclair Promising a Million For Certain Reputed Claims in Teapot Dome. Silas Strawn Linked in Testimony With Standard Oil Bank.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Appearing before the senate committee investigating naval oil leases, J. Leo Stack, Denver oil man, told the committee that he believed Harry F. Sinclair, lessee of Teapot Dome, had "entered into a conspiracy" with the Standard Oil Company of Indiana to obtain the Teapot Dome lease.

Stack declared he believed the Standard company, which has wells adjoining Teapot Dome, wanted a pipe line to middle-west consuming points. The Teapot Dome lease provided for such a pipe line.

Stack gave this alleged conspiracy as the reason for Sinclair promising him a million dollars for certain alleged claims in Teapot Dome. Stack said he obtained a contract from the Pioneer Oil and the Beigo-Americaine subsidiaries of the Mid-west company and of the Standard Oil to press their claims to Teapot Dome. He said both these companies sold their rights to Sinclair for $1,000,000.

Stack told the committee that he became convinced soon after Harry F. Sinclair got the lease that there had been "bad faith, fraud and secret dealings" in the matter.

The senate committee also made an effort to learn if former Secretary Fall was behind the purchase of the Albuquerque, N. M., Journal, in May, 1922.

Melvin Traynor, Chicago banker, told of financing in connection with the sale of the Journal by Carl C. Magee for $200,000 to Sidney M. Weil, citizen of Albuquerque. Weil testified that Magee told him he was prepared to sell the publication and Fall might be interested in the purchase. Fall assured him later, he testified, that he had no desire to buy the Journal.

Magee, called to the stand, said he did not know who furnished the $200,000 for purchase of the paper. "I don't think the paper was bought for any other purpose than to eliminate me from the newspaper business in New Mexico," he said, explaining that the Journal had consistently attacked Fall. Since the sale, he said, it has been friendly to Fall.

Strawn Under Fire. Silas M. Strawn, Republican member of President Coolidge's special counsel named to prosecute the lease cases, was linked in testimony with a Standard Oil company bank.

Strawn told the committee that he was a director at the First National bank of Chicago. Edward E. Brown, vice president of the bank, testified his bank handled finances of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, and was in fact known as "The Standard Oil Bank."

Further fuel was added to the fire of opposition against Strawn by the testimony of Melvin Traynor, president of the First Trust and Savings bank of Chicago, of which Strawn is said to be a director also.

Traynor, testifying before the committee in executive session, is said to have reiterated some details of a big bond issue said to have been floated by his bank for the Sinclair Consolidated Oil company.

The appointments of Strawn and Atlee Pomerene, the Democratic member of the president's special counsel, now are before the senate for confirmation.

Killed by Falling Tree.

Wooster, O., Feb. 13.—William H. Worst, mayor of Congress, Wayne county, was instantly killed when a tree he helped to fell on his farm in Congress township struck another tree, the top of which snapped off when it rebounded and caught him in its fall. Mrs. Worst was killed six years ago in an automobile accident.

Guests Escape.

Wilson, N. C., Feb. 13.—Several of the guests of the Imperial hotel had narrow escapes when the building was destroyed by fire. One man jumped from a third-story window, while other guests on upper floors were rescued by firemen. A number escaped by tying sheets together and sliding down.

MRS. C. HELEN PLANE

Founder of Stone Mountain Association is 97 Years of Age.

Mrs. Plane unveiled the head of Gen. Robert E. Lee in the Stone Mountain memorial at the exercises which were held on Lee's birthday.

REBEL LOSSES SERIOUS

Backbone of Mexican Revolt Broken, Obregon Claims.

Mexico City, Feb. 13.—According to a dispatch from President Obregon, who is at the front, the backbone of the Mexican revolution has been broken. "The rebels lost 3,000 in casualties in the 11 hours' fighting there and already have been forced to evacuate Guadalajara, in addition to Vera Cruz," Obregon wired. He added: "The enemy had built modern entrenchments, carefully camouflaged, and it was only with the greatest difficulty that our airplane scouts ferreted out their positions. In spite of this, after a heavy bombardment, our loyal Indian troops, for whom I have only the greatest praise, crossed the Lerma river under a terrific fire from machine guns and rifles. The final splitting up of rebel activity will come not later than a few days more. This rebellion will end revolutions in Mexico."

OHIO PASTOR FACES HERESY CHARGE

Asks for Time in Which to Prepare for Trial.

Gallion, O., Feb. 13.—Rev. William Montgomery Brown of this city, when informed that charges of extreme heresy had been filed against him with the house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church, indicated he would ask that his trial be postponed until some time next fall, in order that he may have ample time in which to prepare a defense.

The minister admitted that he is a "modernist and a heretic," but said he would fight his ouster from the church on the ground that the church is full of heretics, and that he should not be asked to sever his connection with the church unless the other heretics were asked to withdraw.

Rev. Mr. Brown is a former bishop of Arkansas. The charges against him were preferred by Bishops A. C. A. Hall of Vermont, Joseph M. Francis of Indianapolis and William L. Gravatt of West Virginia. Brown, it is charged, "did hold and teach and distribute through a book, 'Communism and Christianity,' certain doctrines contrary to those held by the Protestant Episcopal church of America."

Willing to Stand Trial.

Columbus, Feb. 13.—Burton Carter, 26, of Dayton, and Eugene "Red" Webb, former Springfield policeman, both serving 25 years in the penitentiary for the robbery of the Greenville (O.) National bank, declared that they are willing to go to Indiana to stand trial for the murder of Sheriff William Campbell of Brookville. Statements made by Carter and Webb at the prison came after De Witt Pretz, Burns operative at Dayton, accused Webb of making a confession in which Webb said Carter did the killing last August. Webb denies the charge.

Captive Ordered Released.

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—The immediate release of T. G. McKenzie, Canadian, held for $200,000 ransom by Hipolito Villa in Mexico, has been ordered by Adolfo de la Huerta, the Mexican revolutionary leader, according to advices received here.

IMPEACHMENT NOT LIKELY

Denby Case Discussed by the Senate Leaders.

TWO-THIRDS VOTE NECESSARY

Senators to Turn Their Attention to Attorney General Daugherty, Against Whom Senator Wheeler Has Prepared Charges—Senator Willis Promises Vigorous Fight in the Matter.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Senate leaders are of the opinion that impeachment of Secretary of Navy Denby at this time is unlikely, because of inability to get a two-thirds vote of the senate to oust him.

Impeachment was considered after President Coolidge, in defiance of a senate resolution calling for Denby's resignation, said he would not now ask Denby to quit. Final decision regarding impeachment proceedings will not be made, however, until further conferences.

The senate by a vote of 47 to 34 called on President Coolidge to demand that Denby resign. Four hours later Mr. Coolidge, in a statement, defied the upper house and refused to pay any attention to the senate demand. He said the senate had no right to make it.

Denby himself had nothing to say when he was told of the senate's vote, but previously he had stated he would not resign.

With its stamp of disapproval placed on Denby, senators pushing the oil lease probe are now ready to turn their attention to Attorney General Daugherty.

A resolution, somewhat similar to the Denby resolution, which requested the president to seek his resignation, is also pending concerning Daugherty. It was introduced by Senator Bristow K. Wheeler, Democrat of Montana.

The resolution charges Daugherty with failure to prosecute in war frauds and veterans' bureau cases, and with failure to advise with reference to the legality of the naval oil land leases. Wheeler announced that he intends to press for early action.

Senator Willis of Ohio has requested Wheeler to delay action. Because the senate will be in executive session most of Thursday, the Daugherty showdown probably won't come until Friday.

Commenting on Daugherty's letter that the Wheeler resolution go before a committee for investigation, in order that he could be heard, Wheeler said:

"I want him to be given permission to say why he did not arrest Edwin L. Doherty when he admitted that he loaned Fall $100,000. I want him to be given permission to say why he did not arrest Fall and Sinclair. I want him to tell why he did not arrest Charles R. Forbes, deposed director of the veterans' bureau. I want him to tell why it is necessary to employ special counsel in the prosecution of those guilty in the Teapot Dome scandal."

Senator Willis said: "The senate will find this a different proposition from the Denby affair. There is nothing on Attorney General Daugherty which involves him in any way with the Teapot Dome affair. There has not been one bit of evidence against him. He has no connection with it. Daugherty won't be slaughtered without a vigorous fight."

KLAN FUSS SETTLED

William Simmons Will Cease His Activities, It Is Said.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 13.—Colonel William J. Simmons, founder of the Ku Klux Klan and for months a leader of one of the factions in the internal warfare of the klan, has made peace with Dr. H. W. Evans, imperial wizard, according to persons who have been close to the two rival chieftains.

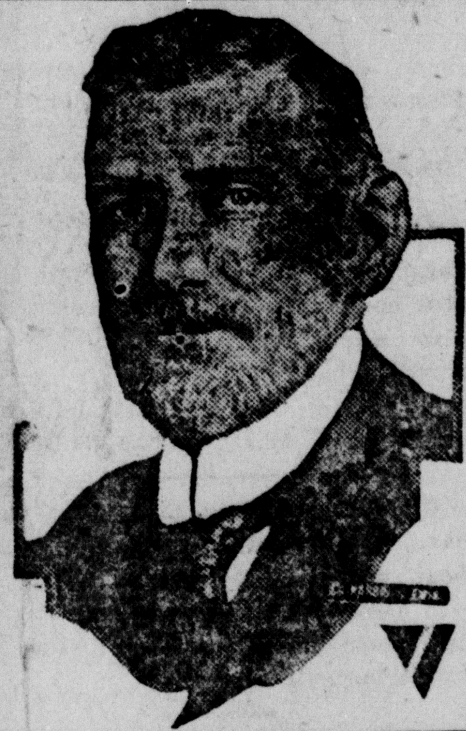

Under terms of an agreement reported to have been drawn up here between representatives of the klan leaders, Simmons will receive $145,000 for his interests and will cease klan activities. Simmons will promulgate a new secret order, it is said. It will be known as the "Knights of the Flaming Sword."

The peace between Simmons and Evans will not affect the meeting of klansmen called for Feb. 26, it was announced at the office of E. Y. Clarke, former imperial wizard.

President Coolidge sent the senate the nomination of George B. Christian, Jr., of Marion, Ga., to be a member of the federal trade commission.

SIR HORACE PLUNKETT

Noted Irish Leader Resting Up in the United States.

DOINGS IN OHIO

Franchise Plan Not Approved.

Columbus, Feb. 13.—The Columbus Railway, Power and Light company's tentative franchise ordinance, submitted to city council, failed to receive that body's approval. The three chief reasons for its disapproval are that council wants a 5-cent fare, instead of 6 cents and five tickets for a quarter, demands more liberal extension provisions and holds out for dropping of the perpetual franchises on certain streets.

Suspect Shot.

Painesville, O., Feb. 13.—Stanley Borse, 21, giving his home as Berea, O., was shot by members of a sheriff's posse near Geneva, O., when Sheriff Spring of Lake county set out after two alleged cracksmen, said to have been working on the safe in the post office at Unionville, near here. Borse is in a critical condition. A pal of Borse is held for questioning.

Spectacular Oil Fire.

Cincinnati, Feb. 13.—Nine tanks, containing 80,000 gallons of oil, were destroyed at the plant of the Paragon Refining company at Fairmount, a suburb, in one of the most spectacular fires in the history of the city. The fire followed an explosion of an 8,000 gallon tank of gasoline. Two employees, Chester Clark, 30, and John Schiller, 22, were seriously injured.

Bus Drivers Enjoined.

Akron, O., Feb. 13.—Common Pleas Judge C. H. Woods issued an injunction restraining the operation of buses here by drivers who are not complying with the law. The injunction is aimed at drivers who are not American citizens and who have not lived here six months.

Charged With Murder of Wife.

Newark, O., Feb. 13.—Charles Coleman, 40, colored, is charged with the murder of his wife, Edna Coleman, 36, at their home here. Coleman attempted suicide by taking gas, but will recover. Mrs. Coleman's throat was cut.

Big Steel Shipment.

Pomeroy, O., Feb. 13.—A tow of 10,000 tons of fabricated steel, the largest single steel shipment from the Pittsburgh district, passed down the Ohio river. It was bound for New Orleans.

Weights 26 Ounces.

Wapakoneta, O., Feb. 13.—A son born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Koenig of New Bremen, near here, weighs 26 ounces. The youngster is normal in every respect.

Gun Accidentally Discharged.

Washington, C. H., O., Feb. 13.—While cleaning a 22-caliber rifle, Uhl Murdock, 21, of near Greenfield, was instantly killed when the gun was discharged.

Woman Badly Burned.

Zanesville, O., Feb. 13.—Mrs. Isabelle King is in a serious condition from burns about her body. Her night gown caught fire from an open grate fire.

Candler Hearing Postponed.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 13.—Hearing of the charge against Mrs. Asa G. Candler, young wife of the aged Coca-Cola king, was postponed indefinitely when the city asked a continuance because of the illness of Chief of Police Beavers, who, in a "raid" on an apartment in a fashionable residential section, arrested the multi-millionaire's bride and W. J. Stoddard and G. W. Keeling, business men.

The three were charged with violating a city ordinance defining a disorderly house. Chief Beavers, declaring he found a bottle of whisky on a table in the room, said other charges would be brought.

ORDER RESTORED BY MILITARY

State Troops Patrolling the Streets of Herrin.

CITY AUTHORITIES ON THE JOB

Soldiers to Remain to Assist Them, the Commander of the State Militia Announces—Deposed Dry Dictator Leaves For His Home in Marion. Warning Issued by General Foreman—Late Developments.

Herrin, Ill., Feb. 13.—S. Glenn Young, deposed dry dictator and acting chief of police, returned to his home in Marion.

Young, who was relieved by the military, said he would finish the matter of preparing the first group of injunctions against alleged bootleggers arrested in the liquor raids in Williamson county.

Alderman Carl Nall has been appointed acting mayor by the city council at the request of the military authorities. C. A. Anderson Herrin's regular mayor, is being held in jail at Marion, charged with complicity in the murder of Constable Caesar Cagle, who was killed last Friday night.

Major General Foreman, in command of the state militia, ended the dictatorship and declared the regularly constituted civil authorities back in power. He announced that the troops would remain to assist them.

Danger of further immediate outbreaks in the war between "dry" Ku Klux Klan forces and "wet" anti-klansmen seems averted.

Young left his barricaded and fortified headquarters in the city hall, where he has been chief of police, judge and jury, and returned to his home. Troops patrolled the streets and searched suspicious looking men for guns, disarming them.

Young was dismissed from the prohibition enforcement service in December, 1920, for "acts unbecoming an officer," records at prohibition headquarters in Washington disclosed. He was a prohibition agent from January to December, 1920. Officials would not reveal what the acts were that caused Young's dismissal.

A statement signed by General Foreman and posted throughout the county says: "The sole aim of the military forces is to exert and vindicate the supremacy of the law, which will be enforced to the fullest extent. Hereafter carrying of firearms or other weapons by any but duly authorized officers of the law is prohibited and troops are instructed to confiscate all firearms and weapons so carried and to hold the offenders for appropriate action."

MUMMY EXPOSED

Lid of Sarcophagus of King Tut Lifted by Carter's Crew.

Luxor, Egypt, Feb. 13.—The huge stone slab which forms the lid of the sarcophagus of the Emperor Tut Ankhamen was lifted late yesterday. Only a small group of scientists, headed by Director Howard Carter and officials of the Egyptian government, were present, but it was said the body of the dead pharaoh was found as had been expected. A magnificent mummy case, heavily gilded and bearing a portrait of the king, was found in the sarcophagus.

Only 16 persons were in the party headed by Director Carter when they entered the inner tomb to attend the unsealing of the ancient monarch's casket. Carter himself directed operations. The huge stone lid was lifted by a specially contrived block and tackle.

Young Lincoln Released.

Aurora, Ill., Feb. 13.—Police Chief Michels released John Lincoln, 20, held for two days in connection with the murder of Mrs. Warren J. Lincoln and her brother, Byron Shoup. Michels believes John is innocent of participating in the crime for which the boy's father, Warren Lincoln, is held. The elder Lincoln has confessed to the double murder.

Woman's Body Found.

Cleveland, Feb. 13.—The body of a woman was found in the ruins of the Wellington apartment house by workmen who were clearing away debris to repair the four-story building destroyed by fire recently.

Two bandits held up Theodore A. Ebeling and his son Eugene, in a downtown jewelry store at St. Louis, and escaped with $10,000 worth of diamonds and other jewels.

PLAN "RELENTLESS WAR"

Governors of Nebraska and South Dakota Attack Oil Combine.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 13.—Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska and Governor W. H. McMaster of South Dakota joined forces in what they declared will be "a relentless war against a national oil combine that is gouging the public out of millions of dollars." Both governors have appealed to the federal government for relief from "unconscionable and unjust oil and gasoline prices," the Nebraska governor demanding federal control of the oil industry. In an exchange of telegrams the executives pledged the support of their respective states to "an uncompromising" oil price fight and assailed what they termed "a universal policy of highway robbery."

Offers to Surrender.

Manila, Feb. 13.—Datu Santiago, leader of a Moro band accused of slaying 10 persons near Lake Lanao last October, has sent word to Governor General Leonard Wood, through constabulary officers, that he is willing to surrender provided he is not punished. He has been hiding in the mountains on the island of Mindanao since the massacre.

WAGE SCALE UP

Mine Workers Insisting Upon a Four-Year Agreement.

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 13.—A subcommittee of the joint wage scale committee was appointed by bituminous coal operators and miners' representatives to consider a tentative offer of a one to three-year working agreement at the present scale for the central competitive field. Miners' representatives insisted, however, they would not compromise on their demand for a four-year agreement.

President John L. Lewis, Vice President Philip Murray and Secretary William Green, and officers of the conference, Chairman Michael Gallagher and Assistant Secretary Lara Van Horn, both Ohio operators, are included as members of the subcommittee.

Arson Charged.

Covington, Ky., Feb. 13.—Ross E. Edwards, 38, of Middletown, O., will be brought to Covington, authorities said, to answer an indictment charging arson in connection with a fire in a warehouse here on the night of Jan. 6. Edwards and T. Lester Miller, 32, and his father, Edgar Miller, 52, of Cincinnati, were indicted here.

Bank Robbed.

Gracemont, Okla., Feb. 13.—Three unmasked bandits robbed the First National bank here of about $5,500 in cash and liberty bonds, after slugging J. L. Cummings, a bookkeeper, with an automatic pistol and locking him in the vault with C. L. Fowler, a customer. They escaped in an automobile.

Griffis in Chicago.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—A large crowd of American Legion members and others, including many prominent citizens, welcomed Lieutenant Corliss Hooven Griffis back to Chicago from Germany, where he was imprisoned for his attempted kidnapping of Grover Bengdall.

OLD LONDON HOUSES WERE BUILT TO LAST
Briton Tells of Homes Constructed 250 Years Ago.

Around London and up and down England are many fine old private residences still sound and weatherproof. The house where I am at present living, in Bloomsbury, is comparatively new. It was built toward the end of the Eighteenth century, shortly after the North American colonies became the United States of America. So there is nothing particularly interesting about it. Though of course the early occupants wore knee breeches and wigs.

I remember visiting two brothers 30 years ago who had rooms in an old house at Stoke Newington, a northern suburb of London. That house today is 250 years old and in sound condition. I remember it was a sharp winter's day and another friend called and took us for a drive. There were no automobiles in 1893. We sat behind good honest horseflesh, which is better than all the automobiles. When we got back to that old house with its broad staircases and paneled walls there was an old-fashioned fire blazing in the old-fashioned grate with a hob on each side of it. We were four bachelors, I being the youngest of the quartette. I was only twenty-three. We dined together and sat long into the evening. It was a cozy scene with an indescribable atmosphere which lives in my memory. Some famous men once lived in that house. Beyond doubt old houses retain something which cannot be bought or imitated; something for which there is no substitute. An indefinable charm is inseparable from them.

As you sit and watch the flames shooting up from a fireplace which has been as it is for over 200 years your mind runs back to the fair women and gallant men who once sat there, for our grandfathers and grandmothers were gallant men and fair women, and you wonder what life was like in their days. I am not one of those who sneer at the "old school." There were gentlemen in those days. We have no time nowadays, with all our time-saving appliances, to be gentlemen. What would Squire Jones have said in 1723 if some one had shouted at him through a tube, "Hello, Jones! That con. old top?" Ye gods and little fishes!

Since I wrote last week I was speaking to the landlord of the Rose and Crown Inn, another old inn at the foot of Clay hill, near Enfield. He told me that nothing had been done to the structure since 1663, 250 years. He showed me an old fireplace the like of which I've never seen. Those old fellows built to last. When I look at some of the houses built within the last five years they make me laugh.

I have great sympathy with that worthy Irish gentleman who, paying a visit to Dublin after an absence of many years, wrote home to say that they were "spoiling the place with their d-a improvements." My heart goes out to that honest man.

Modern life has been spoiled by its "d-a improvements."

Leaving Old Age Behind
President-Emeritus Charles W. Eliot, who is now in his ninetieth year, declares that as the years go on he is apparently growing younger, and to prove his point he tells the following story:

When he was elected president of Harvard he was a young man in his thirties. During his first year in office while he was strolling through Harvard Square one evening he passed a group of freshmen and overheard one of them say, "There goes old Eliot himself."

One night half a century later, on returning to Cambridge from the Boston symphony concert, he heard a senior behind him on the subway train say to his companion, "I wonder what's keeping Charley up so late to-night?"—Youth's Companion.

Jade Venerated in China
Jade is the Chinese yu-stone, for ages regarded with superstitious veneration.

The reverse of the opal, only good fortune attends its possessor, and whoever bestows a gift of jade endows the recipient with a talisman against fate. "As you wish" is the symbol of the Chinese joo-ee, or wand of authority, made of jade, presented by a great official at the installation of an incoming dignitary; and although only the finest joo-ees are of jade, those for less exalted purposes being of rock crystal, metal or even wood, the sentiment is the same—"good will."—Detroit News.

"Contributory Negligence"
"That cut was caused by her ring, our honor. She struck me in the face with her clenched fist," complained the young husband.

"Where did she get the ring?" questioned the magistrate.

"I gave it to her. It was our engagement ring."

"The prisoner is discharged. That is clearly a case of contributory negligence," returned the judge.—Everybody's Magazine.

She Knew It
Stella—Marie is engaged to Herbert. Have you seen her ring? It's sweet.

Jean—It's lovely, but she will find that it will leave a little black mark on her finger—it did on mine.

Final Clean-Up of All Winter Apparel

Our first orders for Spring merchandise have been placed and are expected to arrive within the next two weeks, which means a thorough clean-sweep must take place of all remaining Winter styles. This is just what is going to happen here beginning tomorrow morning. Still lower price tickets have been placed on fashionable ready-to-wear for no reason other than to make room for Spring's first arrivals. The character of the merchandise and the savings to be effected are such that one who is in need of something new and distinctive in apparel cannot with justice to themselves pass up this great opportunity.

Fur Trimmed
COATS
Of Bolivia
$36.45

From advanced Spring fashion reports these coats are to be much in vogue. So to purchase now at a sale price is to save money and possess a coat that will be in the height of the mode in the Spring of the year. These coats are of the best Bolivia materials, with collars of excellent quality fur and lined with the best material. Coats that were made to sell as high as $99.75. Final Clean-Up
$36.45

CLEAN-UP
$13.95

Woman who took advantage of previous sales of these dresses will welcome this opportunity to make further selections. We have gone through our stock of dresses and selected these for a special selling. All are advanced Spring models made up in fabrics that will be most popular.

STYLISH SUITS
In Final Clean-Up
Priced at $26.95

Just 49 Suits which we have selected for a final clean-up and which we have repriced at a figure lower than suits of equal worth will be offered again.

Cloth
COATS
With Fur Trimming
In a Wide Variety of Styles at $14.45

While emphasis is placed upon the extreme lowness of the price, you will notice upon investigation that these coats belong in the higher price class. As a matter of fact these coats were much higher priced, but they must take lower prices regardless of their real worth to insure a quick disposal. Velours of good quality which we guarantee to give long service of style and warmth. All fully lined and most of them with fur collars and cuffs.

SILK DRESSES
A Choice Collection
$18.95

You're going to wonder when you see these dresses, just how such new styles at the very threshold of their popularity can be possibly purchased at these prices. If they were bought in the regular channels they could not. This group represents a special purchase in which we share our price discount with you, with the result your money will buy more dress value than you would ordinarily expect.

FRIEDMAN'S
APPAREL FOR WOMEN

Philosophy of a Cipher.
Consider the cipher. It amounts to nothing in itself, but when put at work with others behind a good strong figure it adds wonderfully to the value of the group. But if a cipher puts on airs and gets out in front of the procession, it becomes valueless again. Men might take a lesson and learn that their value lasts only as long as they stay on the job.

Ancients Used Wire Rope.
In Egypt thick beaten wire was made into chains as far back as the second dynasty, 6200 B. C.; and links doubled and looped through one another appeared in the sixth dynasty, 4200 B. C. Yet chains were not commonly used until much later. The Gauls excelled in such work, as they used chain cables and rigging in place of rope to resist the Atlantic gales.

THE AMERICAN LEGION

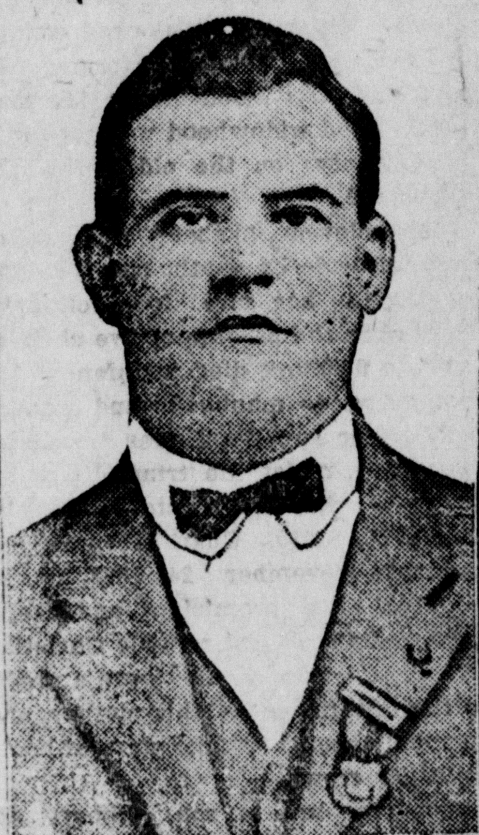

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

HOLDS RECORD FOR LEGION ACTIVITY

J. Leo Collins, commander of the American Legion in Pennsylvania, is regarded by fellow Legionnaires as one of the outstanding workers for veterans' welfare in that state. His record in the Legion—as an organizer of the first post in the state, post commander, chairman of the Allegheny county council, a deputy organizer in the state, finally to be elected to the most important post in the entire department organization, has won admiration of the entire Pennsylvania membership.

Commander Collins was commissioned as captain and served with the army in France as a member of the Ninety-second division. There he won honors for bravery and was decorated by the French government. On his return from overseas service he began organization work for the Legion and has continued active in the organization since that time.

To pay Commander Collins fitting honors because of his elevation to the post of department commander, the Turtle Creek Valley post, Collins' home post, tendered him a testimonial dinner in East Pittsburgh. At that dinner many prominent Legion men, congressmen, state, county and municipal officers were present. Through arrangements with the Westinghouse Radio corporation, the addresses and entertainment were broadcast by the powerful wireless station KDKA, so that Legion men all over the nation heard the tribute to their comrade.

J. Leo Collins.

Board of Appeals to Hear Numerous Cases

Reorganization of the Central Board of Appeals of the Veterans' bureau, increasing membership of that body from seven to seventeen in order to expedite cases presented, was first proposed by the American Legion, officials of that organization declare.

About 12,000 cases have been heard annually by the reviewing board, but the increased membership, it is believed, will permit nearly 50,000 cases of disabled veterans to be presented.

Another change advocated by the Legion and recently put into effect by Director Frank T. Hines, has been the establishment of a finance division in the bureau and separation of the disbursing and accounting sections.

Legion Boosts Good Roads

A special session of the Missouri state legislature to consider plans for extending the road appropriations has been sought by members of the St. Louis county council of the American Legion. In a letter to Governor Hyde, the Legion men declare that they learned the value of good roads while in France, and that as the condition of many roads in that state is deplorable, steps should be taken to both expedite and extend the road building program. Under the proposal made by the Legion men, authorizing of additional funds would provide a complete system by 1928.

Way to Aid Disabled

One man's contribution to service funds maintained by the American Legion in Marshalltown, La., practically made it possible to carry on post work for disabled during the year. "Dad" Everest, as the Legion men affectionately call him, owns and operates a string of filling stations in that city, and one day turned over his places for the Legion men to handle, giving them the profits. Gas sold at a low figure on that date, and many motorists took advantage of the opportunity to stock up, and thereby aid the Legion's work.

Simplicity Itself.

"How did you find the mosquitoes up there?"
"Cinch. Didn't even have to look for them."—American Legion Weekly.

Coal Tar Is Source of Numerous Products

When William Murdoch first made gas from coal in 1792, the slimy black coal tar that remained was merely an objectionable by-product.

Today coal tar is the source of almost countless products, from perfumes to medicines, and from high explosives to delicate dyes. The most recent product to be made from coal tar is a weatherproof paint for metal roofs that will stretch as the roof expands under the sun and shrink as the roof contracts. This new paint, which is made of coal tar, a melted rubber compound and varnish, promises to do away with the cracking of roof paints that has been a source of trouble and expense.

One ton of coal, distilled in a gas retort, produces about twelve gallons of coal tar. Because it was an unavoidable part of gas manufacture, chemists have been experimenting with it for a hundred years. Thus far more than two hundred compounds have been discovered in it, and a history of its products is in large part a history of modern chemistry.

In 1823 naphthalene was produced from coal tar, and two years later benzene. Aniline, originally distilled from indigo, and the base of a thousand and one coal-tar dyes, was discovered in 1834, and, four years later, carbolic acid.

The earliest aniline dye, a deep purple, was made by accident in 1856, as the result of experiments designed to produce synthetic quinine.—Utility Bulletin.

Columbus First Pirate in American Waters

Christopher Columbus is said to have been the first person who practiced piracy in American waters. It is said that his second voyage was nothing less than an expedition for the sake of plunder. Natives were enslaved, and subjected to the greatest hardships, so that they died in large numbers. A pack of bloodhounds, which Columbus brought with him for the purpose, was used to hunt down the poor Indians when they endeavored to escape from the hands of their oppressor, and in every way the island of Haiti, the principal scene of the actions of Columbus, was treated as if its inhabitants had committed a dreadful crime by being in possession of the wealth which the Spaniards desired for themselves.

Queen Isabella was greatly opposed to these cruel and unjust proceedings, and she sent back to their native land about 300 slaves which Columbus had shipped to Spain, and gave positive orders that no more of the inhabitants be enslaved and that they all be treated with moderation and kindness.

According to Frank R. Stockton, in his "Buccaneers and Pirates of Our Coasts," it was because of his alleged atrocities that Columbus was superseded in his command, and sent back to Spain in chains.—Detroit News.

Tests Equipment

It is said that whenever a car wheel breaks on a certain great trunk line the fragments are taken to the company's laboratory and carefully studied so that when the next order for car wheels is made up, if structural weakness caused the accident, it may be guarded against. All the purchases by this railroad of iron, steel, oil, lumber or what not are tested by the chemists it employs and they draw up the requirements to which persons who sell the road supplies must conform. This is not an isolated instance. It illustrates the practicability of applied science and the reliance of acute business men upon the expert opinion that insures them against wasting materials, time and money.

It Makes a Difference

The boy who had scratched his name on the paint of the stationary motorcar had been soundly cuffed by the owner. Attracted by the loud howling which resulted, a crowd soon gathered, through which the father of the boy pushed his way.

"Who struck my son?" he demanded, furiously. "Show me the man!"

The motorist stepped forward. He was six feet two inches in height and forty-nine round the chest.

"I did," he said.
"Served him right, sir," said the man, touching his cap. "I'll give him another hiding when I get him home."

Gratified

At a church conference a speaker made a number of disparaging remarks regarding the universities, finally expressing gratification that he himself had not been corrupted by contact with a college.

"Do I understand that the gentleman is thankful for his ignorance?" asked the chairman.

"Yes," said the other, "if you wish to put it that way."

"Then," continued the chairman, "all I have to say is that you have much to be thankful for."

Too Far Off

"How did this vase get broken, Mary?"

"It fell off the pedestal, ma'am."

"And how did you upset the pedestal?"

"I never touched it. The chair bumped into it, ma'am."

"Didn't you push the chair, Mary?"

"Oh, no, ma'am. The table did that. All I did was to push the sofa up against the table. Goodness, knows, I can't see what's goin' to 'appen so far off."

SCHOOL DEBATE

League of Nations Problem Will be Decided Thursday Evening.

We trust that every person who reads this paper is a wideawake American citizen. If you are an American citizen, you are interested in the great problem that is confronting America; namely, the League of Nations question. You are either for or against the league.

If you want to hear both sides of this question fully discussed, come down to the high school auditorium Thursday evening, February 14, at 8 o'clock. The negative debating team from Coshocton high school is coming to Circleville to debate our affirmative team. The local debating teams are working hard to give Circleville something interesting and worthwhile. In turn we expect the support of the citizens of our town.

Don't forget the time and place. High school auditorium, Thursday, February 14, at 8 p. m. Admission 25c.

The affirmative team which will remain at home is composed of James Furgason, Maurice Rothman, Helen Mack, Azel Laughlin, alternate.

The negative team which journeys to Lancaster to compete with their affirmative team is composed of Russell Compton, Joseph Adkins, Glenn Vanscoy, Tracy Delong, alternate.

GRANGERS

Of Darbyville Had a Jolly Time—
Masquerade Is Next

The Darbyville grange had a good crowd and a fine time at the last meeting.

A splendid feature of the session was a thoughtful, forceful eulogy on the life and services of Ex-president Woodrow Wilson by Robert Pherson.

After the devotional and business part the lecturer conducted a question box which brought out much information, as well as fun and merriment. One question, "Do you want your boy to stay on the farm, was answered by Frank Beatty and Professor Macklin.

"Is it a paying proposition to raise heifer calves, or is it cheaper to buy cows?" This was answered by Messrs. Van Vickle, William Beavers, Milton Beatty and others.

"Which pays better, the big farm or the little one?"—H. Renick. "In what way can we keep young and happy?"—How long did the longest war last?—Alice Wilda Renick. "Why do negroes wear bright colors?"—H. Renick and others.

How high did the highest airplane fly?—Professor Macklin. "What benefit has the grange been to you?"—Mrs. H. Renick.

Many more questions were submitted and all left feeling that they had a most enjoyable time.

The next regular meeting will be in charge of Mrs. McKinley, as captain, and it will be a masquerade. All will come masqued and have a round of fun. Any member not wearing a masque will be compelled to pay a fine.

Unpleasant Bedfellow.

In California and on the staked plains in Texas where the nights are cold, it is the rattlesnake's custom to crawl between a traveler's blankets and snuggle up close to him till morning. Numbers of them are killed in camp every year by soldiers campaigning in that section; but as the rattlesnakes seldom abuse hospitality by biting the sleeper, few accidents happen. Still, there are men who, when out on a hard march, prefer to sleep alone.

John Smith Named New England. The name of New England was coined by Capt. John Smith of Pocahontas fame, one of the founders of the Virginia colony. In 1614 he explored and mapped the northern coast, then called North Virginia, and named it New England. The charter granted the Mayflower Pilgrims adopted the name used in Smith's map several years before.

Away at Home of Daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Christy, of Columbus, have received a telegram apprising them of the sudden death of the wife of Captain Harley Hannibal Christy, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. B. Crawford, in New Haven, Connecticut. Mrs. Christy passed away while asleep.

She is survived by her husband and three daughters; Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. T. B. Will, wife of Lieutenant Commander Will, of the navy, stationed in New York, and Mrs. Clement, wife of Captain Clement, of the marine corps now in Peking, China. She also leaves three grandchildren and one sister in Johannesburg, South Africa.

Mrs. Christy was born in Cape Town South Africa, and lived there until she married Captain Christy, 28 years ago. Captain Christy is commanding the flagship California, at Culebra. He is a cousin of Mrs. Jay Wall, of this city.

In Memoriam.

Editor Union-Herald:—This brief sketch will simply remind us of a few incidents in the life of one beloved among us, of Amelia Catherine Rickert, daughter of Samuel H. and Elizabeth Hummel Rickert, born near Roreston, in Ogle county, Illinois, November 18, 1862. At the age of 24, on February 10, 1887, she was united in marriage with Reuben H. Dreisbach, a son and citizen of Pickaway county, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Thomas Woodside. Her married life and widowhood were spent in this county on the old Dreisbach homestead.

Her beloved husband was called from her side by death, May 29, 1893, leaving to her care four children. They were the parents of five children and the firstborn died in infancy. The rest grew to manhood and womanhood. Her son, Fred, was translated peacefully, midst the triumphs of his beautiful life and victorious faith March 18, 1919. Charles was taken suddenly November 24, 1922, in the midst of his promising and useful days, a staunch and reliable Christian and citizen. These sons were a credit to the faithfulness of this mother, and now doubtless shine like stars of beauty in her crown.

Surviving are a son, Robert R. Dreisbach, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Ruby D. Schwab, wife of Professor Ralph R. Schwab, Ph. D., instructor in Fairmount college, Wichita, Kansas; two granddaughters, and one grandson; also her parents, who were present, having come from their home at Naperville, Illinois, to witness the burial of the last one of their children.

Mention should be made of Marvin Rickert, a nephew, who spent nine years in Mrs. Dreisbach's home.

Sister Dreisbach was converted in girlhood under the ministry of Rev. Henry Roland at Naperville, Illinois. From this experience and faith, she never wavered, yielding herself ever to her God and Savior, to be wielded by the Spirit and guided by the word of truth, in active service in the church as teacher or any department needing a faithful helper.

Her life was a benediction in the home, and in the community, a friend of God and her fellowmen. Her late illness was brief; beginning on Saturday evening, February 2, and completing its work at about the same time 7 o'clock Thursday, February 7. All was done that could be done by friends and skillful physicians at the home and at the hospital which was two blocks distant and to which she was taken. Notwithstanding the successful operation for appendicitis the heart strain was too great to endure this last battle. The body lost in this conflict, but the soul gained its release and final triumph or faith.

The funeral services were held at the Evangelical church this city, Monday conducted by the pastor, Rev. E. D. Paulin, assisted by Rev. W. L. Naumann, of Akron, and Rev. E. A. Tovey, of Lancaster. Burial was in Ebenezer cemetery.

Worth Trying, Anyway.

If you want to insure yourself good luck, wear your new dress for the first time to church, so sayeth old Doctor Lore, Doctor Folk Lore, to be more exact. Maybe the old gentleman was laughing up his sleeve the way he said this, believing in his heart that the good luck would follow attending church; but then it's just as well not to go to analyzing the whys and the wherefores of these old superstitions, because after all they are "just for fun."

In Memoriam.

Editor Union Herald:—William Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Wilson, of this city, was born in Circleville, June 18, 1886, and fell asleep in Jesus, February 8, 1924, at his home in Cleveland.

In the year 1916, he was united in marriage to Adah Belle Bowsher, of this city. He leaves to mourn their loss, his wife, father and mother, two brothers, Joe and Harry Wilson, of Columbus, and two sisters, Marie, wife of Charley Forsha, of Columbus, and Florence, wife of Walter Metzger, of this city.

He was a sufferer from diabetes for five years. Everything was done to alleviate his suffering and the best doctors and specialists were consulted in the hope that these skillful men might do something for him. He had the most careful nursing that a wife could give, but to no avail. During his prolonged illness, he was a bright and patient sufferer. His friends were always greeted with a smile and words of gratitude were expressed for the many favors given him by his great circle of friends. He would often express the love he had for his wife and mother.

His sufferings most of the time were great, but he has now gone where he will receive his reward. His life here on earth was short, but the flower budded and beginning to show forth the wonderful blossom on earth will open to its fullest beauty in heaven. Words cannot express the sorrow that his untimely death has brought to the hearts of his wife, parents, brothers, sisters and his friends and relatives. Our hearts are broken, but we must dry our tears for Will is only asleep.

Funeral services were held at his home in Cleveland Monday afternoon, February 11. Burial was in the nearby cemetery.

100% INTEREST AT PONTIUS U. B. REVIVAL.

The subject for this evening service at Pontius U. B. church: "Love, Blood, Fellowship" and for Friday evening in a talk to the school children will be a great day. The subject for drench: "Five Little Foxes." Sunday morning service: "The Great Question of the Ages" and in the evening: "Christianity: Is it Static or Progressive? If Static, Why? If Progressive, How?" These meetings are scheduled for two weeks, closing February 24, with a fellowship and communion service.

Monday evening, February 18, the subject: "Character Sketches From the Bible. If you would like to see yourself in a snap-shot picture be present. Tuesday evening: "Test of Character." Now let your mind turn to some of the needs of the day and instead of whining and grumbling help to make the world better. Even if it is the "Presidential Year" we can be ladies and gentlemen, in respect to the thoughts of the day.

STORM-BOUND MEN FIND NEW WAY TO USE RADIO

"Wire" Wireless May Revolutionize the Methods of Communication.

A half dozen hydro-electric engineers, snowed in by blizzards and completely cut off from communication with the outside world in a mountain camp 260 miles north of Vacaville, Cal., today are attesting the verity of the old adage that "necessity is the mother of invention," asserts the Washington Star.

Hemmed in by huge drifts from snows and when the only telephone line to the camp went out of commission, the party summoned both food and help by evolving a new method of "directed" radio transmission. Not only did they save themselves, but their experiments may go a long way toward revolutionizing present land use of wireless.

The results of their efforts to obtain succor is a new "wired wireless" method by which radio messages can be confined to one direction and sent without conflict with any other radio sending or receiving station in the use of the air.

The discovery was made when the engineers, who are employed in hydro-electric development work by the Pacific Gas and Electric company, tuned a small radio set which they carried in the direction of high voltage transmission lines which run past their camps. The sound waves precipitated against the power wires were carried to the terminus of the lines here, a distance of 260 miles, where they were picked off by a small boy with an amateur receiving set.

Shortly after the first message was received, power company employees, using another youthful radio operator and his amateur sending set, were in full communication with the snow-bound engineers.

The value of the chance discovery, precipitated by necessity, according to radio experts, lies in the possible use of all kinds of land lines in the same kind of "direct" sending. Not only can high tension lines be pressed into such service, they assert, but telephone and telegraph lines, and even barbed wire fences can be utilized in the same way without interfering in any manner with their other uses.

The same "wired wireless" system, they declare, can be used to send messages when static conditions prevent use of regular radio methods.

Find Fossilized Oyster of the Pre-Glacial Ages

A fossilized oyster, believed by scientists to be a relic of the pre-glacial ages, has been unearthed by A. G. Shearer, plowing the top of a hill at Pope, Manitoba. Dr. R. C. Wallace, professor of geology at the University of Manitoba, stated that, in all probability, Shearer struck a rock, carried by the ice of the glacial age and belonging to a period millions of years earlier than the ice age, as there is now neither river nor lake near Pope.

LOGAN ELKS

Are Royal Entertainers—This Evening Members Go to Lancaster.

On Monday evening, February 11, twenty-five brothers of the local branch of Elksdom No. 77, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks were at their beautiful and spacious club-royally entertained by the Logan Elks rooms in the latter's city.

A smoker and banquet were held for the charter members and past exalted rulers of the Logan lodge and the delegation from Old Roundtown were guests of honor.

The officers and brothers of the Logan branch more than proved themselves to be entertaining hosts, and the evening's festivities will not be soon forgotten by the visitors. Other Elks from the surrounding vicinity also added to the glamor of the occasion and a quartet from New Straitsville, Ohio, added to the pleasure of the evening by their harmonious selections.

Needless to say No. 77 owes a debt of gratitude to the Logan lodge of Elks and they hope to repay this with double interest when the delegation from that city visits the Elks' big bazaar.

This evening No. 77 will visit Lancaster lodge and it is the aim and purpose to have a representative body of one hundred members attend from this city.

The trip will be made by auto and will leave the lodge rooms at 6 p. m. this evening.

The committee on arrangements requests that all Elks with available automobiles be on hand at that time to afford a means of transportation for those without a way of going.

Two candidates from Circleville will be initiated by the officers of the Lancaster lodge which will be followed by a social session and get-together meeting. It behooves each and every brother of No. 77, who can possibly arrange to go to make this trip and help boost the fair of the near future.

EBERT SENDS REGRETS

Deplores Misinterpretation of Flag Incident at Washington.

New York, Feb. 13.—Major General Henry R. Allen, chairman of the American committee for the relief of German children, received a cablegram from President Ebert of Germany expressing the sympathy of the German people at Woodrow Wilson's death and referring to the "deplorable misinterpretation" of the flag incident at Washington. Ebert added: "Your telegram, to my utmost regret, confirms to me that there has been in the United States a deplorable misinterpretation of the fact that the flag on the German embassy in Washington was not put at half mast upon receipt of the news of former President Wilson's death, but only on the day of his funeral. I sincerely wish to assure you that the German people deeply sympathize with the national mourning of the American people, whose generous charity for the relief of distressed Germany will never be forgotten here."

SWEPSTON SALES

Have Conducted 6000 in 50 Years—Call Grover Yates for Dates.

The sale dates and a few remarks by Earl Swebston, veteran auctioneer. The Swebstons have conducted over 6000 sales in five counties in the past 50 years. This record alone should speak for itself. It shows they have treated the buyer and seller alike, having always sold to the highest bidder, playing no favorites.

They were one of the ten firms selected by the U. S. government to dispose of surplus war material and demonstrated their ability by conducting the highest price sale of 1923 also the highest price on army horses and mules in 1922. They have conducted some of the largest sales held in the United States, also the smallest, and as Mr. Swebston said, "learning something new at each and every sale."

The Swebstons have never asked anyone for their sales; not that they do not appreciate the business and confidence of the people, but do not wish to force their services on anyone, saying that was too much like the fellow who did not get an invitation to a party, but went anyhow, to see why he was not invited.

Auctioneers are not made—they are born. True, there is a school where one may learn to call figures just because a man can drive nails does not make him a carpenter. Experience is the greatest asset in the auction business, knowledge of valuation, judge of human nature; personality, confidence of the people, fair dealing.

When your automobile is broken it is cheaper to hire an experienced mechanic; when you are broke any everything you have is selling at public auction, it is also cheaper to employ an experienced auctioneer. Valuation of horses and implements is established at farm auctions, a cheap sale will have a tendency to lower prices in the whole community.

We know valuation and buyers in all counties and have a mailing list of all taxpayers. Our per cent has been the same for 50 years, 1 1/2% on the dollar. We are booked for the month of February, but have open dates in March. Phone us or Grover Yates, Circleville, Ohio, for dates.

Nature's Adaptation.
British mine-rescue investigators have made the curious discovery that while the average man is stimulated by the oxygen of their apparatus, no effect on miners is apparent. It is suggested that long work in a close atmosphere has given the lungs such full use of the available oxygen that an excess has no influence.

Liming in Winter Is Good Judgment

Haul Larger Loads on Sled Than on Farm Wagons.

Some New York state farmers may find winter a good time to haul limestone for their land. Those whose farms are so situated that they have a long uphill haul from the railroad, and who wish to haul by sleigh, are likely to find winter hauling especially desirable, the New York State College of Agriculture says.

When the sleighing is good, larger loads can be drawn on a sled than can be hauled on a wagon at other seasons of the year. In winter there is a period of several weeks when this work may be done. This will enable one to haul the limestone without interfering too much with ice harvesting, butchering, wood cutting and other winter farm work.

If the weather is favorable and the snow is not too deep, limestone may be applied at any time during the winter. Burned and hydrated lime, however, may be put on more advantageously when the land can be worked so as to mix the lime with the surface soil soon after spreading. It will give better results this way than if left for some weeks on the surface. Unless mixed with the soil soon after spreading these more active forms go over to the same chemical form as limestone in chunks which cannot be mixed with the soil so completely as if stirred soon after spreading. Whatever its form, an intimate mixture of lime with the soil always gives best results.

Any kind of lime should be kept in a dry place. Lump lime is sometimes piled in the field to slake. This results in considerable waste. Hydrated lime must be kept dry or it continues slaking and the bags may burst open, making it difficult to handle them and causing some waste. Further, it takes up weight so there is more to handle when it comes to hauling and spreading. This increase in weight and bulk may well be considered in spreading, so as to be sure that enough is used to grow the desired crop.

Clover in Garden Will Provide Green Manure

It is a very good plan to sow some kind of clover on a part of the garden each year and, after letting it stand one season, plow it under for the green manure. It not only tends to place the soil in better condition mechanically, but the nitrogen the clover gathers from the air will be valuable. The roots and tops plowed under will furnish humus. The rest from garden crops starves out a lot of the insects, and when the ground goes back into garden it will be like a new soil of great fertility.

It is well to manure heavily just before seeding to the clover, as this will cause a heavier growth and the manure itself will be largely available when the garden crops need it the following years. Garden crops always get the best from manures after they have had a chance to rot well.

Alfalfa is even better than clover, and sweet clover will produce more root growth in one year than either and the second year after the seeding the roots naturally decay and are easily plowed. It produces a very heavy growth quickly the second spring, and this can be plowed under then, but the heavy roots make this pretty difficult, though it permits using the ground for cropping the same year.

Liming the soil before seeding to any clover will be an advantage, for if the land is very sour no clover will make much growth. The first seeding to clover in the garden should be inoculated, but after that, if rotated every three or four years, no further inoculating will be needed, as the bacteria will remain there.—L. H. C., Kansas.

Destroy All Cedars to Control Rust of Apples

Apple rust inhabits apple leaves and fruits during part of its life history and cedar trees during the other part. It is the fungus which causes the "cedar apples" which are so conspicuous during wet weather in the spring. The infestation on the apple is often severe enough to produce serious damage, and farmers who wish to fully protect their crop of apples should waste no time in destroying the cedars, as infection will occur during any wet spells for the next five or six weeks.

No profitable method of control has been devised except to destroy the cedars. It is possible to control by spraying but the cost is too great for it to pay. On the contrary, cutting the cedars for a mile or two on all sides of the orchard will accomplish control without further efforts. The profit from this operation depends on the size of the orchard, the number of trees to be cut, and the number of neighbors willing to co-operate.

There are other similar rusts of pears, quince, and haw which have one stage of the life history on cedars; but they are not so important economically as the apple rust.

Use Grain for Horses After Roughage Diet

Horses that have been wintered mainly on roughage, such as hay, oat straw, and corn stover, should be started on grain again a month or six weeks prior to the beginning of spring work, because they must be gaining in weight and hardened up if they are to "hit the collar."

Brave Mother Bass

Snakes are destructive of fish. Many students of nature have seen the reptiles injure or kill fresh-water fish, even the swift trout. It is astonishing therefore to learn that the tables may be turned. In a recent bulletin of the American Game Protective association is an account of the courage of a female black bass in protecting her nest of eggs against an attacking water snake.

A student of fish life was watching the mother bass. Many times fish would come near the nest, but the vigilant mother would drive them off. Presently a water snake came swimming along the bank in the direction of the nest. As quick as a flash the bass was after the reptile. She made her savage attack from the rear, thrashing the water into suds.

When the ripples had quieted down the student observed that a large part of the snake was in the mouth of the bass. Once more the surface of the water became agitated; when it was again smooth the snake was gone and the bass was returning to her nest.—Youth's Companion.

To see a letter carrier denotes news from some absent one; if his uniform is complete the news will be good; if incomplete, it will be disappointing.—Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Appreciated Lover's Tribute.

When Jenny Lind was in Vienna, years ago, a lover learned millinery and floristry so that he might sew in her hat daily three red roses as a tribute to her art. He might have sent huge baskets to her over the footlights. But his method was more delicate and Jenny Lind was pleased. Princess Metternich, too, used to wear flowers in her hat, according to a prominent florist, who trimmed exotic millinery for her daily.

Ideals and Happiness.
Lasting happiness results from building ideals into concrete structures that minister to human happiness. The material things of the world have their worth, but even that depends upon the uses they are put to. Many a log valuable for furniture building has been used to fill swampy places over which cord-wood was hauled. And the same is true of ideals. To really count they must be fitted to good ends. Joy comes from projecting yourself into the future and the welfare of the race.

Scots Had Wizard

Michael Scott was the medieval Scottish wizard of sage celebrated by Sir Walter Scott in his "Lay of the Last Minstrel." Michael Scott is supposed to have been the astrologer of the day of Emperor Frederick II, who lived from 1194 to 1250, and he is said to have translated for the emperor—through the Arabic—some of Aristotle's works, with commentaries by Averroes. An allusion to the sage in Dante's "Inferno" shows that Michael Scott must have already been noted throughout Europe as a magician at the period in which the poet lived.

Some authorities have identified the wizard with Sir Michael Scott of Balwearie, near the "lang toon" of Kirkcaldy, in Fifeshire. In Scottish border folklore the "wondrous wizard" is credited with having "cleft the tweed with a curb of stone." His grave is shown in Melrose abbey.—Detroit News.

Odd Phenomena

In the dozen or more million square miles of territory which comprises the British empire there are many remarkable phenomena, one of the most interesting being the pitch lake of Trinidad, off the coast of Venezuela. It is a natural reservoir of valuable mineral pitch, 100 acres in extent, from which 200,000 tons of asphalt are exported annually. About half way across Kenya colony, in British East Africa, is Magadi lake, a vast natural deposit of soda. The lake is ten miles long, two or three miles in width, and seen from the mountains that surround it, has the appearance of an immense ruffled white sheet.

Their Credentials

For a few minutes at Seventh and Broadway the other afternoon traffic was at a standstill while Beauty and the Beast fought it out.

"My goodness," exclaimed Beauty, "it was all your fault. I've been driving carefully and I've had two years' experience."

"Yes," growled the Beast as he picked himself out of the gutter, "but don't forget that I've always walked carefully and I've had sixty-eight years' experience."

Then and Now.

Women in the home used to be ashamed to sit down; there seemed to be a virtue in wearing themselves out! The housekeeper who saved herself, who did not dust every few moments, scrub on her hands and knees and do such tasks, was called lazy. The belief now is that the most intelligent housekeeper, the one who studies every new invention and saves every step and motion, is the most conscientious and sensible one. Sit down to vegetable paring and all tasks where it is practicable.

Lost Meteorite Believed to Contain Platinum

In the Arizona desert, midway between the Grand canyon and the Petrified forest, the wise men of the Navajos tell a story that is generations old. Like many legends of once savage folks, it parallels with uncanny accuracy the scientific explanation of a weird phenomenon of nature.

Ages ago, the Indians say, three of their gods, seeking eternal rest, rode to the earth on flaming blue thunderbolts that cleaved for them a deep and wide-mouthed grave in which the gods still lie.

That is the Navajo version of the fall of what science calls the Canyon Diablo meteorite, a huge lump of celestial matter that is believed to lie imbedded in the solid rock, 1,400 feet below the desert sands, beneath the 570-foot crater that it blasted out when it plunged from the sky.

For 40 years the Navajos have been shaking their heads and prophesying evil as they have seen the white man's machinery set up at the crater's edge and his drill bite into the tomb where sleep their gods. For mining engineers believe that the buried meteorite is a giant treasure chest of iron, nickel, platinum, iridium and other valuable minerals. Its size has been estimated as between 300 and 1,000 feet in diameter and its weight as between a few thousand tons and many millions.

Recently, the steel point of an oil drill, boring into the rock, was shattered against a substance harder than itself. Was it the meteorite? The engineers are assuming that it was and have sent for additional mining machinery to sink a shaft. What the drill struck is more than 1,400 feet below the surface.

The sinking of the proposed shaft will enable the engineers definitely to ascertain if the mysterious substance was a part of the long-sought treasure. But its sinking is likely to prove a difficult task.

Natural conditions, climate and the presence in the neighborhood of thousands of rattlesnakes and rats impede the progress of the mining operations. But they are being carried out wherever possible with eagerness by both the scientific and industrial world.—Popular Science Monthly.

Atlantic City

Splendid and pre-eminent among the great pleasure resorts of the world

Winter days at Atlantic City have a charm peculiarly their own. While the air is keen and invigorating it is tempered and softened by the beneficent influence of the Gulf Stream.

There is a preponderance of radiant sunshine—and the exhilarating salt air is filled with the elements that make for life and vigor.

The Boardwalk—with its great and gorgeous hotels—and shops—and places of amusement—is always the center of interest. There is nothing like it in all the world.

On its broad expanse—by day and by night—is an unending procession of seekers after pleasure and refreshment who have been fascinated by its distinctive character and have learned that here as nowhere else in America is to be found a veritable re-creation.

Tourist tickets at reduced fares and with attractive return limits and stop-over privileges are now on sale via Delaware River Bridge of the Pennsylvania Railroad—the only all-rail route. Requests for through Pullman reservations or any desired information are invited.

RAT KILLING

War of Extermination Begins in Circleville Monday, February 11.

Women are traditionally afraid of mice, but there is nothing in either Webster or Hoyle to prevent two pretty girls from giving Old Man Rat a whack over the head. That's just what Miss Anna Mae Wright and Miss Helen Caldwell are going to do in Circleville.

These charming misses arrived the other day for the sole purpose of exterminating Circleville's rodent population. Their campaign has received the commendation of city officials, of social and civic organizations and of the public-at large. Thru the cooperation of city officials and the public, Miss Wright and Miss Caldwell propose to scientifically rid Circleville of every one of her 16,000 rats.

In a proclamation today, Mayor G. M. Fitzpatrick designated ten days, beginning February 11, as special rat-killing days in Circleville and urges the people to cooperate in an organized effort of rat extermination.

"Every person living in the city of Circleville supports in comfort and luxury at least two rats," Miss Anna Mee Wright declared today. "The destruction done in your city annually by rats will exceed $29,000. By reasonable computation your city, with 8,000 inhabitants has 16,000 or more rats.

Miss Wright has won national fame as a rat exterminator. Her assistant Miss Caldwell, is also an expert battler against the rodent tribe. They use barium carbonate powder, which is obtainable at drug stores.

Following is Mayor Fitzpatrick's proclamation:

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION.

Setting Aside Days For the Killing of Rats.

Since it has been estimated by experts authorities that some 16,000 rats are living in the city of Circleville, that the cost of each rat to the city is $1.82 per year, or $29,000 per year for the total 16,000 rats, and since Miss Anna Mae Wright and Miss Helen Caldwell, experts in the art of killing rats, are in the city for the purpose of ridding it of these pests which are also dangerous to the health of the people and most unsanitary.

Therefore, I, G. M. Fitzpatrick, mayor of the city of Circleville, Ohio, do set apart the TEN DAYS FROM MONDAY FEBRUARY 11th to February 21st as Rat Killing days in and for the city of Circleville, to be observed as such by the placing of poison, or any other means which will rid the city of rats.

Given under my hand this the 9th day of February, 1924.

G. M. FITZPATRICK
Mayor, City of Circleville, Ohio.

GOOD PROGRAM

Rendered at Pickaway Township Centralized School Last Friday.

The Parent-Teacher association of the Pickaway township centralized school held the second meeting of the organization Friday, February 8.

The auditorium was effectively decorated with plants and American flags. Mrs. J. L. Young, the president, presided. Preceding the program, Mrs. Turney Pontius led the devotionals.

An excellent program was arranged by Mrs. Cora Hood and Mr. George H. Roof. "Responsibilities" was the chosen topic, which was presented by Mrs. Charles A. Dresbach. Mr. Hanselman talked on "Lincoln as a Man" and Alice Roof read very pleasingly Lincoln's Gettysburg address. The music thruout the program was by the pupils of the school, directed by Miss Leonard.

A pleasing feature of the afternoon was the social hour immediately following the program.

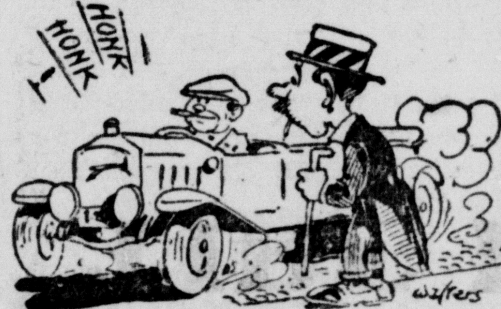

J. S. EDWARDS DEAD.

Joseph S. Edwards died this morning at the Pickaway County Home from infirmities of age. He was born in Ireland and is survived by three children whose addresses are unknown.

Remains were taken to the parlors of Mader & Ebert and will be buried in Forest cemetery Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. George Weir officiating.

LECTURE!

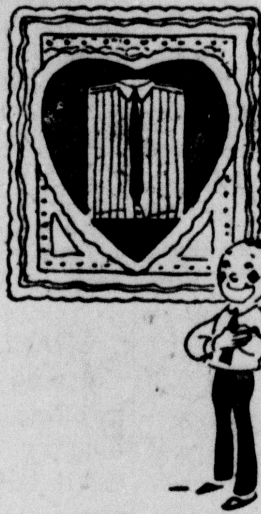

A lady minister will give a lecture on Americanism to the Flora club Thursday evening, February 14, at 7:30 in the Mason hall, 120 1/2 East Main street. There will be music by a Glee club. All Protestant women are urged to attend this meeting.
